MONDAY EVENING, AUGUST 22.

A RED-HEADED GIRL WHEN NO WHITE Horse was NEAR.—A very strange incident which occurred on board the steamboat Grand Republic recently is related by Capt. Van Schaick. It was about a red-headed girl. There was no white horse to be seen.
The red-headed girl had a gentleman with her. She was very red-headed. Her bonnet was trimmed with the same colored trimming as the hue of her hair. Her escort struck a match to light his cigarette, and in some manner unaccountable the flame of the match collided with the trimming in her hat and then with her hair.

There was a fizz and a flame, and also a girl who will hereafter need a wig, as her hair was almost consumed by the flames. she had a very narrow escape, and she met a white horse on the pier. It was hitched to a hack.—N. Y. Evening Sun.

Jake Gibson, of Tallahassee, was sitting in the forks of an old oak tree, eating a watermelon, when a thunder cloud came up. Lightning struck the tree, split it into fragments, and knocked Jake to the ground. Uncle Glenn, an old colored man, and others rushed up, poured water in his face, and began to rub him. They were about to give up hope of reviving him, when Jake rose, looked around half dazed, and inquired, "Uncie Glenu, whar's my watermelon?"

Hiram Pauley, of Elmdale, Ill., has a rat the snake that can be handled with safety. It is brown, with black stripes, nearly four theet long, with stack stripes, hearly four cunces, with seven rattles and a button on its tail. Pauley says that he dug out its fangs with his pocket knife while holding its head in his hand.

"I Feel So Well."

"I want to thank you for telling me of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," writes a lady to her friend. "For a long time I was unfit to attend to the work of my household. I kept about, but I felt thoroughly miserable. I had terrible backaches, and bearing down sensations across me and was quite weak and discouraged. I sent and got some of the medicine after receiving your letter, and it has cured me. I hardly know myself. I feel so well."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS

MBS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUF, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is incalculable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhees, griping in the bowels, and wind-colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25 cents a bottle.
